

GOD'S MESSAGE

By Mary Engquist

Cast---Two puppets a male and female.

Music plays—Get Up and dance. Woody acts silly and happy.

Woody-- Music stops and Woody starts saying over and over and each time faster.

Woody: The Bible is God's message to me.
The Bible is God's message to me.
The Bible is God's message to me.

Charlie walks out while Woody is repeating his sentences.

Charlie: I see that the cat does not have your tongue and why are you so happy that it makes you dance? And act happy?

Woody: Just look at me.

Charlie: What am I supposed to be looking at?

Woody: Have you not learned anything from our Good News Club?

Charlie: The only good news that I got is you have proven to me just what I thought.

Woody: And, and? I'm waiting!

Charlie: Well, that you're a big bucket case.

Woody: Well, Charlie, if you mean a bucket list I have one.

Charlie: Tell me more.

Woody: Okay, it's like this, Like I said 'the Bible is God's message for me.

Charlie: Like God tells you what to do?

Woody: That's it. First of all, God is Love!

Charlie: You mean God loves me? And you and them? (Points to the kids.)

Woody: Yes, He does and He also changes us.

Charlie: But, Woody, I like the way I look.

Woody: No kidding. Now listen up, God changes us on the inside; not our appearance, dude.

Charlie: You mean that I have to give up all my bad habits? But not my good looks?

Woody: Yea, and when you do you will be new inside and out. People will notice the new you.

Charlie: Well, Woody, you sure are smart! But do you know, who is the King of the jungle?

Woody: I thought that you never would ask me.

Music plays 'King of the Jungle' while the puppets act it out.
