

The Fall (Adam & Eve)

By Mary Engquist

A Christian puppet skit.

Song starts out—Listen, Obey, & Be Blessed
Woody & Charlie puppets.

Charlie: Ok, let me finish my story about Adam and Eve.
They were in the garden and...

Woody: I want to help you tell the story.

Charlie: Okay, where are we? Oh, I remember. Now the serpent was more crafty than any of the wild animals the Lord God had made. He said to the woman, “Did God really say, ‘You must not eat from any fruit in the garden?’”

Woody: The man said, “The woman you put here with me—she gave me some fruit from the tree, and I ate it.”

Charlie: Then the Lord God said to the woman, “What is this you have done?”

The woman said, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.”

Woody: You see, Charlie, all you women do not listen.

Charli: Yea, yea, but we know that we must trust Jesus.

Woody: Yes, we need to always listen to God's word and obey him. Don't let anyone tell you any different, please!

Charlie: I know all of that. When we believe and accept Jesus and love him with all our heart, He lives in us and will be there for us when you know who, wants us to do, you know what.

Woody: Yea, so there, for you know what.

Charlie: Just say it, Woody.

Woody: Alright, already! Dear Jesus, please protect me from you know who. Let me always lean on You and I will always trust You to see me through. Amen

Charlie: That's it in a nut shell.

Woody: Yea, we must listen and obey.

Charlie: I know that. What do you think we have been talking about all afternoon?

Woody: Well, just trying to get it drilled into your head.

Charlie: No need for that. I love Jesus and I want to do His will. I will read His word every day.

Woody: Hey, you are smarter than I thought.

Charlie: What is that supposed to mean?

Woody: It means you have an open heart and are listening to God's words.

Charlie: Yes, and in doing so we can.

Woody: You mean, yes, we can?

Charlie: Yes, we can, if we Trust & Obey.

Song plays—Trust and Obey
